Millions Have Been Betrayed...

Women Deserve Better

Women Deserve...

Respect

A woman deserves respect.

She should be emotionally stable, have a strong self-image, and be sure in her thinking.

She should be confident, never ashamed or feel hopeless.

She should exhibit grace, inner-beauty, and should demand honor.

It is as she flourishes into motherhood that a woman blossoms into that which her body and psychological makeup was designed for.

Sometimes this may come during hard times in a woman's life, but this serves as an opportunity to reveal just how strong she really is as a woman.

She should never be asked to deny her womanhood to conform to a "man's world."

To Be True

A woman deserves to be true to herself.

She should never be ashamed of her body and the special abilities it possesses.

Women have been given a unique gift to conceive and carry little miracles within their bodies..

The ability to nurture her growing child beneath her heart for a time should never be considered to be a burden or a hindrance to her worth.

Better Choices

When a woman is asked to rob herself of motherhood by destroying her pre born child, she destroys herself.

Shame, guilt, defeat, and confusion are thrust upon her, leaving her with low self-worth, broken, angry, and feeling betrayed. She becomes bound by the world's expectations, and is no longer respected by her lover or society who now considers her as weak and easily manipulated.

Terminating a pregnancy has done nothing to liberate women. Instead it proves that a woman is desperate to please the world at her and her children's expense.

Women deserve better.
